DETAILED ACTION

1. Acknowledgement is made of Applicant's amendment dated June 30, 2004, responding to the March 30, 2004 Office Action provided in the rejection of claims 1-19, wherein claims 1-19 have been canceled, and new claims 20-25 have been added. Claims 20-25 remain pending in the application and have been fully considered by the examiner.

2. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Claim Objections

3. Claim 23 is objected to because of the following informalities: A typo at the end of line 9 results in the phrase "plurality or", which should be --plurality of--. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

5. Claims 20-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Applicant points out on page 16 of the amendment that the claims find support from Fig. 9 and pages 16 and 17 of the originally filed specification. Review of these portions of the specification does not find support for “storing analysis information obtained by syntax analysis of said source-program”. A compiler necessarily performs syntax analysis during the transformation of source code to object code during the step of parsing the code. Syntax analysis ensures that a given code sequence makes sense according to a language’s grammar. The cited portion on pages 16 and 17 and Fig. 9 of the originally filed specification discusses the inclusion of information regarding a version of a compiler that was used to compile the code, and an indication of optimization level used during compilation. However, this data is not related to syntax analysis. Further review of the originally filed specification failed to reveal support for “analysis information obtained by syntax analysis”.

6. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

Art Unit: 2122

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

7. Claim 21 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

8. Claim 21 recites the limitation "said analysis information stored in said object program file" in lines 2 and 3 of page 6 of the amendment. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. Earlier portions of the claim do not reference any analysis information that is stored in an object program file. For the purpose of further examination, the analysis information will be interpreted as having been stored in the object program file by the processing part for storing.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

U.S. Patent 5,500,881 describes the desirability of storing a version of a compiler along with options used during compiler invocation as well as program source code in one logical storage location called a "model" (column 20).

Japanese Patent JP 2000357097 A discloses retrieving compiler versions and options from an object program (Abstract).
